

NEW RECORD BY FLYERS.

Plane in Air for over 26 Hours.

Stinson, in Larsen Machine, Creates a Continuous Flight Mark.

After Long Battle With Oil Connection He is Forced to Descend.

(By A. P. Night Wire.)

MINEOLA (N. Y.), Dec. 30.—Flying without a stop for 26 hours 19 minutes and 55 seconds, part of the time in a snowstorm, the remainder through gales so cold that the oil pump of their Larsen monoplane quit working and finally forced them to descend, Edward Stinson of San Antonio, Tex., and Lloyd Berland of San Francisco, set a new world's record today for continuous flight in a heavier than air machine.

The previous record of 24 hours, 12 minutes, 2 seconds was made by two Frenchmen at Etampes.

START IN SNOWSTORM.

The Americans took off in a snowstorm at Roosevelt Field yesterday morning just before 9 o'clock. Shortly after 11:17 o'clock this morning their ill-fated ship, gliding in a brilliant sunshine, glided back to the snow-blanketed earth a few feet from where the start had been made.

A composite account of the flight given the Associated Press by Stinson and Berland follows: "Our first four hours in the air yesterday were flown between 30 and 50 feet above the ground. The snowstorm was so heavy that we could not go any higher and see the earth.

"We were flying on the ragged edge at about 15 miles an hour, a strong nor'wester followed the snowstorm and it was hard and lumpy flying all yesterday afternoon. From sundown until 9 o'clock the weather was fine but cold. Then the gale came. The wind was so still and the ship so heavy that when she slid off an even keel, we both had to grab the controls and exert all our energy to get her back on the level.

FINGERS BECOME NUMB.

"About midnight our fingers became numb but except for the cold everything went well until shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, when the oil became so chilled that it was like grease and the pump could not force it into the lubricating system.

"While one of us steered, the other had to lift our five gallon auxiliary oil can into which we had pumped holes to pour the summy oil into the tank. It was so thick we could only pour about a quart at a time. It required great care to keep the oil from running out and thereby burning the motors.

"There was no rest for either of us from then on.

"At daybreak, when it seemed colder than ever, the radiator shutters jammed, but we got around that by retarding the spark which kept the engine warm.

The official times were:

Start, yesterday morning, at 11:17:50.

Finished, this morning, at 11:17:50.

TRAINED MANY FLYERS.

Stinson, stationed at Kelly Field, Tex., during the war, as a civilian instructor, because of his delicate health, probably trained more American flyers than any one man.

Unexcelled as a stunt flyer, he is credited with not even a broken part on a plane. The love of flying runs in the family, for two sisters—Marjorie and Catherine—also are adept pilots.

Both men were later blinded by oil when they descended. In addition they were suffering intensely from the bitter cold, but although the plane was equipped with a cabin, Stinson had not let him seat in the open cockpit since 4 p.m. yesterday and his mechanical found little time to seek shelter.

Three fingers of Stinson's right hand and one of his left were frozen. Berland's hands were numb.

Officers of the Aero Club of America, who were at the field as official observers, were jubilant as they stood, watches in hand, marking the establishment of the new record.

The machine is equipped with one 18-horsepower motor. Every ounce of unnecessary weight was cut before the contest. About 250 gallons of gasoline and twenty-eight gallons of oil were carried.

SETTING CLIMAX.

The aeronautical chamber of commerce hailed the flight as a fitting climax to the achievements of American aviation in 1921 when four world records were made by Yankee birdmen. The other three were:

August 1—A Loening monoplane flying boat, rising to 19,000 feet with four passengers, established an efficiency and passenger record for a ship of its class.

September 25—Lieut. J. A. McCready of the Army Air Service drove an airplane to a height of 37,000 feet at Dayton, O., shattering the altitude mark of 33,114 feet set by Maj. Rudolph Schroeder.

November 2—Bertrand, in a Curtiss Navy racer with a speed of 179.7 miles an hour, for a 100-mile course, broke the record for a closed course in the Pulitzer trophy race at Omaha.

AMUNDSEN AVIATORS ARE COMING HERE.

(By Cable and Associated Press.)

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Lieut. Dahl and Omdal, aviators, attached to the Amundsen expedition, will leave about the middle of January for San Francisco, according to a dispatch from Christiania, received by the London Times. They intend to purchase two airplanes while in the United States, to add to their outfit. Their outfit includes wireless apparatus, two motor-driven machines, and arms and ammunition.

BLAME YAP DISCOVERY ON O'KEEFE

Real Boss of Island Descendant of Irishman Who Made Fortune There.

(By Walter Wilgus.)

(By Cable-Exclusive Dispatch.)

YAP, Dec. 30.—The Japanese flag flies over Yap and a Japanese governor makes the laws, but the real boss of the island is an American woman. If she is not 100 per cent American by birth, she makes up for it by 100 per cent in American brains and business ability. In English her name is Mrs. Alfred D. Scott, and she is about 40 years old.

Mrs. Scott's father was David O'Keefe, a famous trader and sea captain of the old days. He is still a tradition in the Carolines, where his two sons made their mark on many a hunky native. He was born in Savannah, Ga., and the story goes that, when as a young man he sailed away to the Pacific, he left a wife and daughter there who never saw him again.

O'Keefe finally settled on Yap Island and as a successful business in copra and other products of the South Seas. His trading schooner plied between the Carolines and London and his coconut groves dotted the Pacific islands.

He forgot Savannah and married a native girl. Mrs. Scott is his daughter.

When O'Keefe's fortune was at its height and his name was a terror to every native in the Carolines, he was marked on what proved to be his last voyage. Returning from Hongkong to Yap his schooner was hit by a native cutter and the ship was lost in a storm, whether the natives sailed mutilated and killed.

It is still one of the unsolved mysteries of the sea.

O'Keefe's wife and daughter, however, continued the business. Some years ago the daughter married a trader named Scott, who died in 1918. Since then she has managed her affairs single-handed. Today Mrs. Scott owns a capital trading schooner, several coconut plantations and lives in the biggest house in Yap. She is most proud of her son, who will soon be old enough to help her in business, and of her grand piano. As the piano is the only one on the islands, Mrs. Scott is the social leader of Yap's "409."

END WORK ON NAVAL TONNAGE

still in the experimental stage, was reached quickly by the naval committee after the American delegation had modified its limitation proposal to conform to the figures which the several powers agreed as representing their individual desires. Under the agreement the United States is to have 13,000 tons in auxiliary cruisers; Great Britain 10,000 tons; France 10,000 tons; Japan 10,000 tons; Italy 10,000 tons; and Germany 10,000 tons.

In addition, it was agreed that no single carrier of more than 27,000 tons should be constructed and that none should carry guns of greater than eight-inch caliber. It was indicated during the discussion that the United States and Great Britain each would build five carriers. Japan three, France three, and Italy two, all present tonnage in the auxiliary class to be considered experimental and not falling within the new limitations.

POINTED EXCHANGE.

The committee debate which preceded the carrier agreement again brought Anglo-French relations into prominence and led to another pointed exchange between the British and French delegates. Lord Lee for the British, set forth at some length why his government was regarding with apprehension the naval building program of the French. In reply, Albert Sarraut, head of the French group, voiced the possibility of exchange of the delegation to what he termed an effort to continually put France in a position of suspicion.

Afterward there was evident a disposition on all sides to put forward the work of the conference as rapidly as possible with all unnecessary debate eliminated and as a result many of the delegates predicted that the whole naval question would be finally put out of the way before the end of another week. The Japanese and American both announced plans to leave for home about the middle of January.

Although no meetings of any of the naval building sub-committees of the conference are to be held tomorrow, with the exception of possible consultations among the naval experts, various groups of delegates will confer on special subjects in an effort to wind up loose ends of the negotiations as soon as possible.

FOUR-POWER TREATY.

Informal discussions of the plans to clarify the four-power treaty also are to continue during the day, with the hope that the attitude of Great Britain and France toward the proposition may be more fully developed. The conversations are said to be tending toward attachment of a reservation to the treaty, declaring specifically that the principal Japanese islands are not to be included under the agreement. To this reservation the American representatives would interpose no objection as such.

Upon like authority it was said the administration probably would resist any effort in the Senate to attach such a reservation of limitation in case no formal request for the limitation should come from Japan. It was said the administration would be expected to stand by the agreement made by its plenipotentiaries, that the treaty should apply to the mainland of Japan.

Members of the American delegation tonight were quoted as passive both in the negotiation of the treaty and in the present discussion of its application to Japan. It was said that in the original negotiations the British first suggested that it should apply to Japan, desiring that it apply to Australia and New Zealand and believing that, therefore, it should also logically apply to the Japanese mainland. The American delegates supported that stand.

UNDERSTANDING ON CARRIERS.

French, who deferred formal answer pending advice from Paris. The American proposal to limit aircraft carriers to maximum of 10,000 tons displacement was unanimously accepted, the basis of relative tonnage displacement was arranged being Great Britain and the United States 13,000 tons each or five carriers of the maximum size; Japan 10,000 tons, or three ships of the maximum size; France and Italy, 10,000 tons each, or a little more than would be required for two maximum-size ships. The French tonnage resulted from a statement of French experts that on examination of the question, France might prefer to have three 10,000-ton carriers to two or 27,000-ton craft.

When the naval committee met today, Senator Sarraut said the Root proposal to ban submarine warfare against merchant ships entirely as amended by Balfour for the British to be immediately effective, between the two nations powers pending its ratification as a new statement of international law had been communicated to the French government and he hoped further debate by the Italians. Mr. Sarraut made a similar statement for the French group and Chairman Hughes agreed that discussion under the circumstances would be of limited value.

LORD LEE SPEAKS.

Lord Lee for the British group, said he felt there was a misunderstanding in the French group as to the British attitude on the submarine question.

"I cannot say," he said, "that here we have a unique opportunity for the French delegation to express their views on the British Admiralty and public opinion in regard to this matter of which I hope they will avail themselves."

"I want to explain to our French friends, if I may, why it is we have special apprehensions which have been expressed so forcibly in connection with France. We are not clear what are the views of the French naval staff on this matter of the utilization of submarines in time of war. It is true the views of experts do not always by any means determine the action of governments, if they did no doubt we should some day be placed in a position where the late Lord Salisbury once described when he said:

"If we listened to the experts we should have to put our gun on the moon to protect it against invasion from Mars."

But the views of naval staffs, of the experts are of importance unless and until they are disavowed by the governments they serve."

Lord Lee then referred to recent articles on submarine warfare in the French Revue Maritime signed by Capt. De Frigate Castex.

"At that time he was chief of one of the important bureaus of the French naval staff," he said, "which also directed publication of the Revue. These articles, I read added, 'were designed to throw ridicule on those who criticized the German methods in the late war.'

He read numerous extracts from these articles claiming that "torpedo warfare was a French invention, 'appropriated' by the Germans."

APPROVES GERMAN METHODS.

"To sum up," said one extract read by Lord Lee, "one can see nothing in the attitude of the Germans which militarily speaking is not absolutely certain. The failure to give notice before torpedoing has released a storm of protest, but it is not so inadmissible as at first appears."

"Now this officer," Lord Lee continued, "who is appointed principal lecturer to the senior officers of our navy, no doubt, unless a change in policy takes place, begin pouring what we regard as this inferior and hollow into the ears of the serving officers of the French navy. This is the justification for what I can only describe as the apprehensions and even the bitterness that we must feel in the thought that under any circumstances our late comrades in arms in the greatest war the world has ever known should contemplate the possibility of warfare of that kind."

Lord Lee urged that a way of disavowal for the French of such statements lay in adoption of the Root resolution No. 2, banning submarine warfare against merchant ships.

OPPORTUNITY TO PROVE.

The French have told us here again and again, that they only require submarines for purposes of defense. We have had differences of opinion as to the utility of submarines for these purposes, but now, it seems to me, here is an opportunity of proving to the world that they mean what they say in regard to this matter."

"If the Root resolution, as amended by Mr. Balfour was accepted," Lord Lee said, "I think the French would have gained much of the ground which I believe has been lost between us, largely through misunderstanding."

Admiral De Bon replied for the French naval staff that he stated that the French had no intention, practically, there is nothing more foreign to our minds than the idea of attacking a friend."

It is not even conceivable to us," he said, "our only regret is that this misunderstanding lasted so long that we did not know it was based on an article like that written by Capt. Castex."

DENIES RESPONSIBILITY.

Capt. Castex, Admiral De Bon said, "was after all a man of letters," and attached to the literary section of the French staff. He pointed out also that the Revue Maritime, on its title page, specifically expressed lack of responsibility on the part of the French Admiralty and French staff for anything appearing in its columns.

"The charge should be laid at the door of the man who wrote that article," he said, "and not at the door of the French navy. The article in no way represents, thank heaven, the views of the French navy."

"The author of the article has written what we consider to be a monstrosity. I beg Lord Lee to believe that the French navy has never harbored any idea of using methods of war practiced by the German submarines."

"I maintain that the honor of the French general staff and of the French navy is not to be sullied by the article in question."

"I formally repudiate it in the name of the French navy," Sarraut said that as head of the French delegation, he would solemnly confirm what Admiral De Bon had said, "or offer the French government's formal re-

SAYS SUB BASE HERE IS SAFE.

Eberle Asserts Action of Arms Meet Won't Affect It.

Declares Our Undersea Force Far Below Ratio.

Sees Great Future for Los Angeles Harbor.

The future of the Submarine Base at Los Angeles Harbor will not be affected by the final outcome of the Conference for the Limitation of Armaments at Washington, in the opinion of Admiral Eberle, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet.

"At the present time we have but little more than half the original ratio of 80,000 tons of submarines proposed by Secretary Hughes and less than half the proposed compromise of 60,000 tons," Admiral Eberle said in an interview yesterday.

"With France and Japan objecting to a reduction it is likely that we shall have to build more submarines if a final agreement is reached, and in any event there is little likelihood of our being obliged to scrap any," he continued.

"The appropriation for the Submarine Base at Los Angeles Harbor has already been approved and is included in the appropriations bill now pending. I do not see how it can be affected in the least by any action of the conference. We need the base for submarines we already have."

URGES DREDGING.

The city's harbor improvement plans were also discussed by the admiral. He expressed it as his belief that the deep water improvements in the deep water of the outer harbor first, developing

CHICAGO FIRM FOR OPEN SHOP.

Move Includes Plumbers and Sheet Metal Men.

Unions Refuse to Abide by Landis Award.

Five Building Trades Under American Plan.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—The plumbing and sheet metal trades were placed on an open-shop basis today as far as the citizens' committee to enforce the Landis award and its supporters are concerned, following repeated refusals by the two unions involved to come under the Landis award and working conditions.

Workers in both trades will be recruited in Chicago and other cities and placed on a number of local jobs immediately. The committee is supported by the Sheet Metal Contractors' Association in its latest effort.

This makes five trades—the carpenters, composition roofing, slate and tile roofing, plumbing and sheet metal—which the committee now is operating on an open-shop basis.

MOVE IS FORECAST. The move in the sheet-metal trades was forecast a week ago when advertisements calling for skilled workers were placed in the newspapers of nineteen Central States cities. More than 400 replies have been received to date in response to these advertisements, providing an efficient nucleus of workers for Chicago.

The committee has been assured the solid support of the Sheet Metal Contractors' Association, whose members do practically all the work on large construction jobs in the city. The shops of the association members will be operated on the Landis award scale and on an open-shop basis, beginning next Tuesday.

Similar advertisements calling for plumbers have been ordered inserted in the same series of newspapers. Advertisements placed in Illinois papers the day following the refusal of the journeymen plumbers to accept the wage scale brought in sufficient replies from licensed workers to assure a sufficient working force at the outset.

Plumbers from outside cities will be brought into Chicago as rapidly as they can be licensed and employment found for them. They will be paid at the rate of $1.92 1/2 an hour, the rate set by Judge Landis for men who abide fully by his ruling.

The same protection will be given to the plumbers as was given to the sheet metal and plumbing contractors and workers as has been given to the carpenters.

Insurance will be placed on all

TURTLE MAKES SPEED RECORD.

Goes Mile and a Fraction in Almost Four Years' Time.

(ST. A. P. DAY WIRE.)

TORONTO, Dec. 30.—A new speed record was announced today, a mile and a fraction in three years, eleven months and nineteen days.

The winner was one of 116 turtles tagged and turned loose by Prof. A. A. Pearson of the University of Wisconsin, who is engaged in studying the habits of the shellbacks.

Jobs operated under the terms of the award, protecting the owner and contractor from damage through vandalism or willful destruction of his property. Guards will be furnished to protect the workers on the job and if necessary to the committee will be afforded similar protection.

The committee also plans to open employment offices in near-by industrial centers to examine sheet metal workers, their composition and slate and tile roofers and carpenters to weed out the inefficient workers.

COURT RULES IN SCIENCE SUIT.

desired to resign but would not do so until their accounts had been passed upon by the court. The issue between the directors and the trustees as to finances was comparatively slight, he added, and the trustees wanted an immediate hearing on the allowance of their accounts.

Former Governor John L. Bates, on behalf of the directors, said the question was the propriety of expenditures made by the trustees and not the amount. The reports of the auditors appointed respectively by the trustees and directors, he said, do not show how the money had been expended. He argued that to submit an audit that would relieve the trustees from further liability would require at least three months.

The trustees, he said, had asked the directors to permit them to resign and to certify that the affairs of the publishing society had been correctly managed. He declared the real issue raised by the trustees was not that of good faith but that their sole purpose was to be relieved from liability. He added that the directors' decision upholding the removal of Rowland implied that all the trustees might legally have been removed by the directors.

Judge Crosby remarked he did not understand that the decision meant the directors could act arbitrarily but that they must act reasonably, and that on the question of good faith on the part of the directors the trustees were entitled to a hearing. If the question of the trustees' accounts were out of the way, he said, there would seem to be no reason why the appointment of new trustees might not be acted upon. He said some one must be put in charge of the publishing society and if the parties could not agree upon one trustee for that purpose he would appoint a temporary receiver.

and Petrograd, the principal grand opera centers, she was singing in Odessa when Kerensky was deposed and in the turmoil that followed the overthrow of the regime. She was a member of the present company met and organized.

There were favorites from Odessa, Moscow and Petrograd, and realizing it would be a long time before they could return to their former homes, they decided to cast their lot with each other on a co-operative basis, a plan on which the company is still proceeding.

Ekaterrburg was about this time becoming better known to the outside world by reason of the fact that the deposed Czar Nicholas, with his family, had been brought there from Tsarskoe Selo castle for the keeping. The imperial family was quartered in a residence near where lived at that time the charming wife of the baritone Radeff. Mme. Radeff was a native of Ekaterrburg and socially prominent, but no one was sufficiently influential, she estimates, in speaking of the events of 1917-18, to ever ascertain with certainty the fate of the Czar and those of his family and retinue, who were with him.

CERTAIN Czar SLAIN. "Everything was so secret," Mme. Radeff says, "that one could not learn what actually happened, but in Ekaterrburg we felt certain that the Czar and those with him were assassinated in the building in which they had been placed for security. We are certain that Czar Nicholas is dead."

All the company are glad indeed to have reached the United States and are not worrying about how long their business may detain them.

"We had been given the impression that America was a stiff and commercial country, where everything was measured by the dollar," said one of the principals, "but we were pleasantly surprised to find the people most kind and generous. Really, it is wonderful the way we have been received and warmly welcomed everywhere."

Mlle. Burskaya said that after the company's permanent organization in Ekaterrburg they crossed Siberia, singing in the principal cities such as Omsk, Irkutsk, Harbin and Vladivostok, then

End-of-Year Strength of Foreign Exchange Commented On in Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Probably the most significant movement on today's stock market was the strength of foreign exchange. It is an old tradition of the market that the shifting of international balances in connection with the year-end settlements will usually make the action of exchange rates erratic in the last week of December.

That influence operates only slightly in the situation of depressed European currencies. As happens the last week of the year has been marked by active movement in exchange ever since 1914 and the movement turned out to be a steady one. The year-end trend in rates, "this year," advance from the year's low level and it was higher today in view of the extent to which Europe's economic reconstruction is the outstanding problem just now before the market.

It is further the fact that the foreign exchange market has heretofore correctly foreshadowed coming events in the world economy. The expectation was erroneous, the character of this market at the end of the year is highly reassuring.

MOVEMENT UPWARD.

Today's stock market did not change its character. There were declines as well as advances, but the day's general movement was upward and the familiar spectacle of a few stocks falling 100 points up and three points, usually for particular reason, was repeated. The one incident of special interest in the bond market was the rise in United States Treasury 4½ above the highest price ever touched by them in the open market—closing at 109.10. Considerable amounts (about $9,000,000) topped the 100.08 price which was high record when the bonds were being supported on their first appearance in the market in 1915. But bonds with relatively near maturity are now necessarily influenced by the strong term structure of interest rates, and by present and prospective rates for money.

The rest of the investment bond market was generally in a confused manner, advances and declines occurring simultaneously in bonds of the same quality and no particular bond was to be indicated.

BUSINESS NEWS.

Bond Market Reviewed; Comparative Food Prices; Globe Dividend; Many New Issues.

According to the weekly review received yesterday over the private wire of Blyth, Witter & Company, the New York bond market has been in the doldrums during a greater part of this week and is now beginning to show signs of renewed interest. Holidays always prove a damper on business and this year has proven no exception. The market was somewhat nervous, however, because of the new financing of the International Paper Company first and second municipal issues, and refunding 6 per cent bonds, due 1962, at 98.11, to yield 6.10 per cent. These bonds are non-callable until 1957, but they are redeemable at 110 for the next ten, and at 102 for the last ten. The company furnishes all electric light, street railway and service used in the city of San Antonio, Tex. Earnings have been equivalent to three times all indebtedness. The new financing of bonds are secured by a first lien on $2,500,000 worth of property, and a second lien on $100,000.

As matter of fact the financing of last week was so heavy and the market is in such a speculative condition due to impending holidays that a slight congestion exists with regard to undistributed bonds. The market is, however, only temporary and a decided change in the mental attitude of dealers has already become evident.

The bond market started to show a stronger tendency Thursday, and this strength continued throughout yesterday's session. Libertas have recovered a good portion of their recent sharp decline and the opinion is generally held that the market will continue to advance.

NEW FINANCING.

Bond men are discussing the proposed $100,000 loan to Holland which is expected, with Delaware Irrigation District bonds, at 117 1/2 per cent. The bonds are for 10 years, 6 per cent, and are secured by 1,000 acres of California agricultural land valued at $22 per acre. The bonded debt of the district amounts to $41.54 per acre. The maturity from 1929 to 1932 and are priced to yield 6-4 per cent.

The $100,000 City of South Pasadena bonds, maturing from 1923 to 1937, is being offered by the William R. Staats Company at prices to yield 5 and 6.50 per cent.

SATISFACTORY INQUIRY.

Specialists in municipal bonds are extremely sanguine of the outlook for the market in this class of security. One dealer predicted yesterday that the market will shortly go to a 4 per cent basis, and that there will be considerable switching of late by individual investors from United States government bonds to municipals.

NEW RAILROAD LOANS.

Investors are apparently to have the opportunity of looking over some first-class railroad bonds. There has been considerable talk of new issues, and it seems probable that plans for a great many more of the roads, now under negotiation, are successful. The next year. It is said that The Netherlands Parliament has authorized the borrowing of $100,000,000 to finance the construction of the Dutch East India loan that bond dealers are looking forward to in the near future. In the sum of $25,000,000 the Great Northern Railroad. Those in the know say $100,000,000 of this sum will be used in new construction and $20,000,000 in new financing.

MOVE OFFICES.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The stock exchange's final full session of the year was marked by conflicting and erratic fluctuations. Heavy cash sales to meet income tax returns occurred in many of the low-priced issues, but representative rails and favorite industrial were comparatively strong, though dull in contrast with the activity shown by speculative issues.

Opinions from authoritative sources dealing with general conditions in the coming year sounded a note of optimism, especially in relation to commercial and industrial prospects.

These were born out by overnight developments, such as the situation of the dollar, Reebuck Company railroad earnings and advice from Montana indicating early resumption of operations in the copper mines.

Money rates stiffened in consequence of unexpectedly large renewals into 1922. Opening at 5 per cent, call loans rose to 5 1/2 per cent in the last hour.

Recovery was the most prominent feature of the day, although its extreme advance of slightly more than seven points was reduced to 4 1/2 at the close. Sales amounted to 775,000 shares.

Trading in foreign exchanges was larger than at any recent period and the strong tone suggested a more encouraging view of European economic conditions. Sterling bills were at the week's highest level and all Allied quotations were firm. The Italian rate making full recovery. Dutch and Scandinavian quotations were ten to twenty points higher.

The bond market was active as a whole, but irregular movement marked the foreign division. Victory 4 1/2's featured the domestic list, closing at 116 1/2, the year's maximum quotation. $17,550,000.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Dun's business review for the week ending Dec. 24, 1921, shows a general improvement in business conditions, with a notable increase in the volume of trade in many of the leading industries.

The review indicates that the manufacturing sector has shown signs of recovery, with increased production and sales in several key industries. The construction industry has also shown improvement, with a rise in new contracts and a more active building program.

However, the review also notes that the agricultural sector remains weak, with low prices for many farm products and a continued decline in the value of farm real estate. The financial market is also characterized by uncertainty, with fluctuations in the value of the dollar and interest rates.

Main Line of Santa Fe Open for Traffic

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
PASADENA, Dec. 30. — Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, women's leader and publicist, left Pasadena today for Chicago, where on January 3 she will attend a great mass meeting of organized women in the interest of disarmament and peace. Simultaneously similar mass meetings will be held, she said, in London and in Tokio.

"This is not a pacifist movement, but a demonstration of the fact that women, building on the aspirations of the Washington conference, hope that the movement will grow to such an extent that the peoples of all countries will demand it."

Mrs. Burdette will attend a meeting of the general board of the National Federation of Women's Clubs in Chicago. After her Chicago stay she will go on to Washington, to confer with administration leaders on matters in which women of the country are interested.

COLLEGIANS GATHER.
University of California supporters held a gala prelude to the football game here tonight, when an alumni dinner in honor of the visiting varsity team was held at the Maryland, which is the Bear headquarters. President David P. Barrows of the University of California was among the speakers.

The arrival of the Washington and Jefferson football party, including President Simon S. Kahan of that college, made the Vista del Arroyo, which is the Washington and Jefferson headquarters, a Mecca for eastern college men, who called to wish the Presidents good luck and to look the visitors over.

Officials of the Rose Tournament, including President J. J. Mitchell, Chairman W. F. Creller of the football committee, and Chairman W. L. Leshman of the entertainment committee, met the easterners when they arrived over the Santa Fe. They also met President Barrows.

The main line of the Santa Fe has been repaired at the San Gabriel Wash, where a bridge was put out of commission during the rainstorm and flood, and through trains were operating through Pasadena today for the first time in ten days.

WOMEN HELD UP.
As a result of the holding up of two women by robbers late last night, Chief of Police C. H. Kelley today offered a reward of $100 for the apprehension of the men. The victims of the hold-up were Mrs. F. L. Sowers and Miss A. M. Crichton, 487 Wilton street. The robbers got out of a large automobile and held up the women as they returned home from a call upon a neighbor.

Almost as great an attraction as the Devil's Gate dam is the lane of beautiful dead-end on Santa Rosa avenue, Altadena, illuminated with Christmas lights every evening this week. Many motoring parties visit the lane nightly. The trees are lighted in conformity with plans inaugurated last Christmas week.

MEXICAN LIVING
DESPITE MANY SHOTS.

(BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.)
SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 30. — Juan Barron, a Mexican laborer, gave the doctors a surprise today when after he had been shot three times in a fight with officers it was discovered that he still lived, although unconscious.

Barron, who was wanted on a felony charge, barricaded himself in a house here today and engaged in a pitched battle with fourteen officers who surrounded the house. He was shot once through the head, receiving most of the charge from a sawed-off shotgun. Then he was shot through the arm as he emerged from the door in an effort to get a better shot at the opposing officers. A third shot from the officers took him through the neck.

The posse thought Barron dead, and called a dead wagon to take him to the morgue at the County Hospital. There it was discovered that he was alive. Late today it was said he would probably die.

BURIED BY CAVE-IN; RESCUED.
(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

ONTARIO, Dec. 30. — Buried for nearly fifteen minutes beneath the weight of a ton or more of water-soaked earth which caved in on him without warning while he was working on a sewer connection in the bottom of a nine-foot excavation at the rear of the home of J. H. Ehrisman, 555 East D street, Lawrence Fry, 36-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fry, 825 East J street, narrowly escaped death this afternoon.

Young Fry was black in the face when dug out and it was some time before the administration of first-aid treatment developed signs of returning life.

GARBAGE DAY PROGRAM.

Units to Pass in Review at Long Beach by Order of City Manager.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
LONG BEACH, Dec. 30. — By means of a public demonstration the residents of this city will tomorrow be shown how their table refuse will be collected and disposed of commencing January 1. City Manager Howe declared this afternoon that Long Beach is the first western city to undertake the handling of its garbage in a scientific manner. So proud is he of the complete local equipment that he will have the garbage units pass in review over the streets of the city tomorrow.

The hauling equipment consists of two tractors and ten steel trailers. Each trailer has a capacity of two and one-half tons of table refuse. The garbage will be hauled to the hog farm on city land, four miles away.

Raise Funds for Levee on the Santa Ana

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

SANTA ANA, Dec. 30. — Future flood danger from the Santa Ana River in the Anaheim district is expected to be avoided by a new levee to be constructed at the point where the river left its banks to flow through Anaheim at the first of the week. The levee will be built by popular subscription of ranchers in the section to be protected and is expected to cost approximately $40,000 to construct. Double rows of piling eight feet apart will be driven and wire woven between them. Dirt will then be heaped over the rows of posts and an eiled road constructed on top. The levee will be about one mile and a half in length. The decision to go ahead with the work followed a mass meeting of the ranchers in the flooded area at which more than 100 were present. The levee will be constructed at the point where the river channel ran for many years before changing to its present course about forty years ago. The flood at Anaheim recently was caused by the river following the old channel, which was supporting many valuable orange trees.

FALES UNDER TRAIN; DIED.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
POMONA, Dec. 30. — In an effort to board a moving west-bound Santa Fe freight train at North Pomona today, Navarro Rodericus, Mexican, slipped and fell under the wheels. Two cars passed over his legs, severing one and badly mangle the other. He was rushed to the Pomona Valley Hospital where surgeons worked for two hours to save his life. Since the operation was completed the unfortunate man died from shock and hemorrhage. According to railroad officials, he would have been beating his way on the train and fell while trying to steal a ride into Los Angeles.

"Didn't Know It Was Loaded."

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
LONG BEACH, Dec. 30. — Add another to the list of those who "didn't know it was loaded." Thomas Lovaday, 14 years old, of Linwood, was playing with a .38 caliber revolver this afternoon. He looked down the muzzle of the revolver and pulled the trigger. He did not know it was loaded. The bullet entered the chin, shattered the jaw and emerged on the left side of the head near the ear. In its course the leaden missile missed by less than one-sixteenth of an inch an artery which, if punctured, would have resulted in death. Attending physicians say the youth has a chance of recovery. He is at the Seaside Hospital.

The Only Clearance of the Year Scheduled in The Broadway's Merchandising Events—A Full Month of Opportunities, Continuing Until January 31

—There is a sincere purpose back of this Annual Clearance—a desire to supply, in vast quantities, merchandise to fill your present and future needs, at extremely low prices.

—A desire to win friendships and to hold them, by providing desired merchandise, in demand, and at prices that will meet with your approval.

—If you are to measure this Annual Clearance from the standpoint of merchandise, low prices, timeliness or any other standard by which you may see fit to gauge it, you will not find it disappointing.

—Judged by past performances, the Clearance has much to accomplish, for the standard that has been set is high and the reputation that the event has earned would justify us, we believe, in confining ourselves to a mere announcement.

—We have seen fit, however, to give over a number of pages to this announcement, setting forth in detail some of the sterling opportunities to save which have been long in preparation, in order that you may the more easily visualize the attractiveness of this annual event.

It Has Always Been Our Desire to Make This More Than a Clearance, as the Word Is Interpreted

The Other Day Something Happened. Now I'm Going to Make a Wide Open Confession.

I FEEL that it's an act of common decency, wrung from a busy man, and no matter how busy you may be, I guess you'd better read it.

For years THE LITERARY DIGEST was nothing to me. I had too much reading matter, and too many ways, to spend my money.

I thought THE DIGEST was simply one of the multitude of magazines, and the family has half a dozen, or more, lying around the house all the time.

Some fate got after me a month or so ago and began to hand me one knock after another.

The first one that made a dent, I think, was at the meeting of the lodge. An argument arose over Soviet Russia's interest in the Washington Arms Conference. I couldn't hold up my end; the other man knew more than I did, and made the fact plain to several members who were listening. I remarked, not very pleasantly, "You seem to know more than the newspapers." My ill nature brought only a cheerful laugh. "Oh, yes," he said, "THE LITERARY DIGEST explained the whole thing last week." Of course I hadn't seen it.

Coming in on the train a day or two later, my seat companion asked me what I thought of the great plan to make Manhattan Island and the City of New York six miles longer and to construct the most wonderful model city in the world on this new land. "Never heard of it. Pipe dream!" I replied. "Oh, no; Congress has passed the bill, and the President has signed it. Plans are already being drawn. The article in last week's LITERARY DIGEST describing it reads like 'The Arabian Nights.'" I hid my discomfiture with a polite, "Is that so?"

At the dinner table, yesterday, two of the children began discussing the question why great quantities of corn must be burned as fuel in America, while millions are starving in Russia, China, Armenia, and elsewhere.

It seemed strange to hear them quote fact after fact, and opinions of this or that authority which I hadn't read anywhere. I began to be afraid they would ask me some question I couldn't answer. At length I stopped them short by saying, "That will do now; where did you hear all that, anyhow?" And this is what I got in reply, "Why father! That is our high school topic from THE LITERARY DIGEST this week." I had forgotten reading in a letter some time ago that THE DIGEST is used as a text in several thousand high schools throughout the United States.

Harold Bell Wright, the Author, Tells the Reason:

"To attempt to gain anything like a clear view of the world's activities through the fogs of prejudice and the clouds of self-interest that hang always about the local newspaper is a hopeless task. For one who would look with unobstructed vision upon the moving world-forces that make for or against the welfare of human kind, The Literary Digest is a mountain peak in a clear sky.

"Because The Literary Digest gives me an unclouded view of the world's doings, because it places me in an atmosphere above prejudice and local self-interest, because it separates for me the grain of the world's thought from the chaff of idle words, and cleans it from the dirt of sensationalism, I appreciate and enjoy it. It is a Godsend to all who feel that they have work to do that requires clear thinking."—HAROLD BELL WRIGHT, Author of "The Shepherd of the Hills," "Helen of the Old House," etc.

Wife is fond of visiting and has a good many friends among nice people. Lately they have been talking a lot about canning and drying fruits and vegetables, and about new methods of home economy. I heard her telling somebody over the 'phone the other day about a wonderful substitute for eggs in making cakes. Then I heard a little exclamation of dismay and a few broken sentences of embarrassment before she hung up the receiver. In a minute the trouble was all up to me: "Mrs. Page says I mustn't use that egg powder, because it hasn't any egg in it at all. She says I ought to read the article in my LITERARY DIGEST this week (telling all about such things. 'My' LITERARY DIGEST! She seemed to take for granted that we have THE DIGEST. I was ashamed to tell her we haven't. Everybody seems to have it except us." Of course, I couldn't admit such a thing. At the same time, I couldn't deny having seen THE LITERARY DIGEST in most of the nice homes we had visited.

Election day I started early from the house to vote. My neighbor was getting out his new car. It was a beauty. "I thought you couldn't decide which make to get," I remarked. "How did you settle the matter?"

"Why, yes, it did seem like a deadlock between my wife and me, but the advertisement of this car in last week's LITERARY DIGEST was so convincing, we agreed, as soon as we read it, that this was our choice. It's getting to be rather a habit with us, you know, to find answers to things in THE DIGEST." The matter-of-course tone in which he spoke, made me wonder what he would say if he knew I didn't read THE LITERARY DIGEST.

Last Sunday morning the dominie mentioned a request made by some church member that the pastor would "not preach about disarmament, as the subject had been worn threadbare." Then he began to ask questions and tell facts that showed a wider sweep of the subject than his hearers had ever dreamed of. I declare, if he quoted THE LITERARY DIGEST once, he must have quoted it half a dozen times.

Is the answer to everything in THE LITERARY DIGEST?

This was getting on my nerves. The next morning at the office I noticed THE DIGEST on my partner's desk with his personal mail. In the most casual manner I asked him to let me take a look at it. I didn't mean to start anything!

"Do you mean to say you don't read THE LITERARY DIGEST?" he exclaimed.

"Why, is there anything surprising about that? I don't pretend to read every magazine that's published," I said, rather nettled.

He came back at me strong. "That's just it; you try to read too many magazines, and too many newspapers, no doubt. You might better spend less time with some of them rather than miss reading THE LITERARY DIGEST. You simply can't get on, nor hold your own anywhere without it. I know I couldn't. It's the only magazine in the country that keeps you informed,—fully and rightly informed, I mean, free from all editorial bias,—on the big live matters of disarmament, and business, and every other vital topic. Surely! look it over and see for yourself."

I retired to my own office and sat down, face to face with the magazine that had been challenging me everywhere I went during the past month. An hour was gone before I knew it. I was surprised, startled, thrilled. The world seemed bigger to me, and closer. Things that had puzzled me became clearer.

My mind seemed to be opening. I had thought of THE LITERARY DIGEST simply as one of a multitude of magazines which did not concern me. Here it was, now, revealed as THE ONE which I had been really needing all this time. I certainly had been missing a good thing.

Well, I hurriedly sent off my check for the $4.00 which would bring THE LITERARY DIGEST to my home for a whole year. Thank goodness, that's done! Of course, the joke is on me. It was my own fault. I might have enjoyed THE DIGEST long ago. Now, as an act of neighborliness, I'm making this confession; and I'm telling you, also,—you who haven't been reading THE DIGEST,—if you now sign and mail an order for it, as I did (when I woke up), you can call it a good day's work.

Agent Assails Long Beach Police Judge.

State Prohibition Enforcement Director Mitchell was in the city yesterday looking over the local field with Federal Prohibition agent Avery.

Mr. Mitchell stated that he is more than pleased with the status of the enforcement machinery in this city, and that he has nothing to complain of. His visit here was to look after some matters of detail, and not to speed up the prosecution of liquor cases, he declared.

The administration of Prohibition Agent Avery had been satisfactory from every point of view, he stated. He well satisfied in Mr. Mitchell with the situation here, that he returned to San Francisco last night after spending but a single day in Los Angeles.

Mr. Mitchell stated there will be no additions to the local prohibition force now or in the immediate future, so far as he understands. The quota of employees is full, and there will be no changes, he declared.

Mr. Avery has retained a copy to the interview with Police Judge Hawkins of Long Beach, in which that official is quoted as saying that the Volstead Act could not be enforced, and that intoxication had increased in that city more than 200 per cent.

Mr. Avery says: "We deplore the fact that any man should become the medium of propaganda in effect, if not in intent, obstructive to the enforcement of American Constitutional enactments."

We assume that statements attributed to Judge Hawkins are correctly quoted, and we challenge them as not grounded in fact. They hurt least into the faces of millions of American citizens who have stood in the front line of conflict for years, and by unwavering courage and determination overcome all opposition by telling majorities in contest after contest, in many sections of the country, and have developed an irresistible American sentiment whereby large majorities of their representatives have put into effect the decision of the voters, and a nearly unanimous Stateshood has said that the Eighteenth Amendment should be the law of the land.

"The peril of our country, the menace to morals, safety, business and the comfort of our people lies in the attempt to discuss and override law."

Mr. Avery says public sentiment is turning in favor of the enforcement of the Volstead law very rapidly.

LOCAL AGENCY WINS CUP SECOND TIME.

PACIFIC MUTUAL COMPANY EMPLOYEES CELEBRATE THEIR VICTORY.

More than 300 employees and guests of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company last night attended a celebration in the company's auditorium. The occasion was the winning for the second time of the silver cup in the nation-wide contest among agencies of the company for paid business. There was a turkey dinner, musical entertainment and dancing.

John Newton Russell, Jr., manager of the home office agency, was host and toastmaster. Danford M. Baker, vice-president, presented the cup. Among the guests were George I. Cochran, president of the company, and other company officials.

The home agency in the last twenty-five months has paid for new plant $1,000,000 of business. In November a new record was set. The grand total was $2,374,404.

The cup will be retained by the agency winning it three times.

SUES CONGRESSMAN.

Man Assails Lineberger Borrowed Sun Seven Years Ago.

A letter written by Congressman Lineberger of Long Beach in which a loan is acknowledged with a promise to pay as soon as he can, is interpreted to be a promissory note and formed the basis of a suit by Luis Weckman for $100,000 paid by the congressman.

In his answer Congressman Lineberger says that when the letter was written, Mr. Weckman was a resident of Texas, that the cause of action is barred by the laws of that State and by the laws of California. Congressman Lineberger denies that he owes the amount stated in the complaint.

In his letter Congressman Lineberger is purported to have written: "I want you to know that I recognize the favor you did me by making me the loan when you did and that I will pay same with accrued compound interest as soon as I possibly can."

The letter is dated Feb. 17, 1914.

FIND NEW MAIL ROBBERY ANGLE
Officers Investigate Clues in Local Hold-up.
Arrest of Suspects Starts Renewed Activity.
Gang Known to Police is Object of Hunt.

Development of new angles yesterday in the Los Angeles mail robbery cases led Federal post-office inspectors, the Sheriff's force and the auto theft bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California to begin new activity in ferreting out the gang that held up Station C on South Los Angeles street last September. The investigation is stated to be the outgrowth of the arrest of Herbert Wilson, former minister, and Herbert Cox, charged with leading a mail truck, who were arrested at First and Alameda streets on March 3. Wilson and Cox had been following, however, to do with the Los Angeles street mail robbery, officials believe. Detectives Raymond, Hilcock and Evans of the automobile theft bureau yesterday began sifting information which they regard as possibly touching on the substitution of mail trucks. Deputy Sheriff Bell, it was learned, had been given similar information which tallied so closely in respect to the new mail robbery, it was deemed advisable. Postoffice Inspector Cookman was advised of the phase affecting the substitution hold-up and began an immediate checking up of points brought to his attention. The methods used by a certain gang of bandits known to the police in effecting bank and mail robberies, it is said, with the tactics of the five men who robbed the postoffice substitution and wounded a bystander. Photographs of the bandits, who were obtained last night for purposes of identification. Postoffice inspectors continued their vigil at two places in Los Angeles in the hope of trapping armed confederates of Wilson and Cox.

The matter will be before U. S. District Judge Tripp on January 4. The indictment returned by the Federal grand jury in Chicago names Charles W. French, John W. Worthington, James H. Leach, Charles W. Hawkins, Charles W. Daniels, Rudolph E. Kohn, Alfred A. Strelitz, E. L. Gerber, Sebastian W. Davis, Ray D. Swan, Charles K. Strobel, W. C. Littleton, W. W. Cooper, George A. They are charged with promoting what is known as the Development Securities Trust and the Pacific Trust Company of Missouri, and with swindling victims out of large amounts of money. The date fixed in the indictment is Oct. 6, 1920, when the asserted frauds were committed.

Mrs. SHELLEY SAYS SHE KNOWS DAUGHTER'S ENGAGED.
By Grace Kingsley.
While Mrs. M. Minter and T. E. Dixon, who are strenuously denying their engagement, even though Miss Minter had previously confessed it, and Mr. Dixon did not deny it, and even admitted that it was likely an announcement would be made later—Mrs. Charlotte Shelby has innocently verified the report in the East. Mrs. Shelby is Mary Minter Minter's mother. She has been in New York several weeks, and her statement came as the result of a rumor which she had heard and sloped with Mr. Dixon. Telegraphic advice from New York, received yesterday, describes the interview in which Mrs. Shelby stated that she knew her daughter was engaged to Mr. Dixon, but she did not take the report of her marriage seriously. Mrs. Shelby has left New York for Hollywood.

"THE TIMES" IS PRAISED BY WOMAN.
Paper's Stand for Law Enforcement is Lauded at Republicans' Club.
BY MYRA NYE.
The greatest stronghold in the State of California for the Constitution of the United States is The Times Building on First and Broadway, was the tribute voiced by Mrs. Berenice A. Johnson yesterday during the current political events discussion at the Republican Study Club's meeting. "Recognizing the terrible menace to American institutions by the union of the liquor interests and the Reds, they stand editorially for law enforcement, for order and, at the same time, for the Constitution. I hold in my hand a communication to Mrs. Hattie E. Doughty, president of the largest W.C.T.U. body in the country, in which I ask her to endorse my act as chairman of legislation to order 10,000 copies of the editorial in The Times of a few days ago written in behalf of the 'enforcement' of the Eighteenth Amendment." Mrs. Johnson said that she had no doubt that this editorial will be used by the women's organization throughout the next campaign and that the Wright bill will pass by a big majority. "Well-meaning women who up to this time have been reading Red literature will turn to the patriotic utterances of a law-abiding journal," she said. Mrs. Mabel Copeland, chairman of the women in office, said "We should not vote for a candidate because she is a woman, no matter what her qualifications, but neither should we vote against her because she is a woman. A woman's viewpoint on the bench of the Superior Court is an absolute necessity and the time is coming when no Superior Court will function without at least one woman judge."

COUNTY GRAND JURY
INDICTS SIX PERSONS.
FORMER BANK TELLER IS CHARGED WITH FORGING CHECKS.
Four indictments charging various offenses were returned yesterday by the county grand jury. Walter Johnston, now under arrest in Chicago, was indicted on four counts of forgery. Johnston, formerly a teller of the Continental National Bank, was accused of opening accounts in another bank under different names and passing checks through them on a supposed account in the bank where he was employed. The amounts totaled $13,000. Deputy Sheriff Larimer will take today for Chicago to bring Johnston here for trial. G. H. Blanchard was indicted on three counts of passing worthless checks for $45 each on three local hotels. He is now under arrest. Another indictment was against two police officers and two others, accusing them on four counts of robbery and four counts of grand larceny in a deal connected with the supposed sale of liquor. This indictment was secret.

BEAR TRICKS ARE SPILLED
Greasy Neale Gets All the Dope from Barron.
Former Cornell Star Head of Strategy Board.
Presidents Will Work Out Twice During Day.

BY PAUL LOWRY.
It's all off, boys. The best of strategy met with Coach Neale of W. and J. just after the team rounds were kicked off the field in the arena yesterday, and gave him all the dope on California's team plays. There's nothing left in California to do but pack up and go home for all the inside stuff of which Muller, Crip, Toomey, Dick, Nichols and Archie Niblet is now known to the President's coach.

BARRON TO FORD.
A tall, compactly built young man is president of the board of strategy. His name is Charles (Chuck) Barron, and he played quarterback for Cornell some years ago. In fact, he was an All-American quarterback. Mister Barron now resides in Los Angeles, but is not going to let this resignation interfere with his desire to see the Bears triumph in the East. When California plays a lot of games this fall, and has not only absorbed a lot of knowledge on the part of this staff, but has also gained a lot of notes.

Local Soccer Team Leaves for Bay City.
These boys displayed before the making of the team. Neale was over the grim, sour features of Greasy Neale spread a look of enlightenment like the ever-widening smile of a baby when he gets a pebble into its depths. If Barron had not produced that bulky lot of yellow paper from his pocket, he might have been taken in charge by a military guard who had been eyeing him suspiciously.

NEALE FOR STEIN.
While this was going on the varsity under its own power and Capt. Stein's hoarse urging was being through the practice field to Bull Montana, we believe Neale has the biggest neck in captivity. He is a hard-looking young man in a football uniform, and he is from his position and form in the interference just like his old brother does on the Centre field. Neale's men did not reach the arena field until after a quick and were not in suit until the clock, giving them little chance for this today by sending men through two strenuous runs.

Whittier is Trounced by Santa Clara.
Coming from behind in the second half, Santa Clara's basketball team trounced Whittier College at Whittier last night 29 to 12. At half-time the score was 13 to 11 in the favor of the visitors, but excellent work by Glenshaw was responsible for the northerners' fine showing in the second spasm. The score:

TAD JONES IS IN OUR MIDST.
Tad Jones, head coach of the Iron coach at Yale, arrived off the train at Pasadena yesterday, and took up his headquarters at the Mayfield hotel. He made a trip to the city to get an eye for eye with the climate and football, and looking forward to the California-Washington and California-Santa Clara games with anticipation. He stoutly and emphatically denies that his motive for coming to California is for the purpose of signing up the Bears to tilt with Old Eli next season.

Gardner Wants Another Match With Champ Miller.

"WINKY" AFTER RETURN BOUT.

Wrestler Hurl's a Defeat at the Champion.

Wink Gardner wants another match with Walter Miller and the lightweight wrestling title, and he is sure that he can win it. He is a return match. He made a remarkable showing against the champion, but he was defeated by a technical foul. Gardner wants to come into the arena at 160 pounds.

HO FOR SPEED BOAT TILT!

Second of Midwinter Series to Come Off Tomorrow in the Open Sea at Terminal.

The second speed meet of the L.A.C. Motorboat Racing Association's midwinter series will be held tomorrow off Terminal in the open sea. The first event will be a free-for-all for the Henry M. Robinson Cup—two heats of three-mile triangular course, boat making best elapsed time to become permanent possessor of trophy. Heats start at 10 and 11 a.m. Entries are W. W. Padua, Hurricane 1 and Hurricane 11, Frank A. Garbutt's Mystery, Dussan's Mystery, and Joe Padua's Mystery. The contest should be a classic. All the craft are tuned up to do their best and fast work is the prospect.

Boats of the 500 cubic-inch displacement class contending for the Citizens National Bank Trophy will constitute the second event. This will consist of three heats (if necessary) of ten miles each around a half-mile triangular course with hairpin turn at either end. First winner of two heats taking the race. The cup must be won twice, however, to become a permanent possessor. The starts will be at 12, 12:45 and 1:30. Arthur R. Powell's Rain-bow II, Garbutt's Mystery IV and Ralph Hamilton's Joker will start, and a sharp and fast battle is promised.

TO RUN BIG HANDICAPS.

San Diego, Dec. 30.—With the Far West handicap, carried over from last Monday, and the renewal of the Mexican handicap, as the big feature, the first of the racing cards ever offered western turf lovers is down for discussion at Tiwana, Sunday and Monday. The track opened today after being closed since last Monday, and no appreciable effects of the recent storm were noticed.

At least ten of the best sprinters in winter training will go to the track in the Far West handicap, which will be run over the six-furlong course for a purse of $1000. Landed in the winner's list from the Baldwin breeding farm at Santa Anita, is among the probable starters, and he will have as competitors such great sprinters as Ring, considered the fastest five-furlong horse in America; Ray T. Paga, Motor Cop, Lady in Black, Sedan, Bobby Allen, Bull's Proof.

COFFEY DRAWS WITH KRAMER.

Lads Put Up Unsatisfactory Bout at Hollywood.

Mendo-Walters Real Stuff of Legion Fights.

BY ED O'MALLEY.
The boxing bouts at the Hollywood Legion arena last night fairly bristled with class and ferocious action. Of the seven acts probably the only one that boasted a tang of disappointment was the wind-up between Sallor Kramer and Joe Coffey. Owing to the death of Young Brown's mother, Joe Coffey was substituted for Brown in the second round.

Kramer was hardly at his best. His judgment of distance was pitiful and he seemed to lack his usual fighting instinct. Coffey put up his customary jumping-jack scrap with an occasional lunge and a dash at close-up work. The Sallor did fairly well in the opening session especially toward the end of it, when he landed several hard lefts to the chin, staggering Joe.

OLD TIME PEP.
In the second, Kramer started out with his old time pep but soon slumped. About the middle of the round, Coffey tore loose and what little advantage the Sallor gained at first was soon offset. The round was even, and both boys showed some real fatigues in the third round, smacking lefts to the face and rights and lefts to the stomach. The Sallor tried hard to swing up things but his wildness drew derisive jeers from the spectators.

THE REAL SCRAP, however, came up in the third, which found Kid Mendo and Sallor Walters squared off at each other. Not the fiercest bobbed up during the ferocious exchange of wallop and it was declared on all sides to be one of the best of the night. The decision was awarded to Mendo. He dropped Walters to the floor in the first round but the action was up in a jiffy. This undoubtedly won the bout for Mendo. The results of the other bouts were as follows:

Two weeks ago today Carl Sawyer's Winter League champions, and White's All-Stars opened a five-game series. Rain prevented play Christmas week. The clubs have completed the complete series by playing one game today, one game tomorrow and a double-header Monday.

Boxing seems to have taken the city of Covina by storm, judging from the success of the American Legion bouts that have been staged in the Orange metropolis from time to time. Cards are being held on alternate Friday nights, and the proceeds are to be used to build a home for the Legion members of the valley, in which meetings and sporting events may be held.

PASADENA HIGH IS TOO GOOD FOR TECH.
Using every man on the squad, Coach Griffith's Pasadena High basketball athletes defeated California Tech last night in the Bulldog gym, 14 to 13. Verbaars was the outstanding star of the game, counting for 10 of the 14 points. The Tech players were in the fight in the first half of the game.

DUCK ROSTER IS GIVEN OUT.

Prexy Klepper Announces His Players' Names.

Few Changes Made Except in the Infield.

PORTLAND, Dec. 30.—Announcements President Klepper has made in regard to his plans, makes it possible to give a fairly accurate estimate of the lineup which will represent the Beavers next season on the diamond. Here it is:

Catchers, Baker, King and a good one yet to be secured. Pitchers, Middleton, Crumpler, Sutherland, Sam Rom, Parks, Coleman and two more yet to be secured. Others who will be taken to the training camp are Ellison, Plummer and Scott.

First base, Poole. Second base, Kenworthy. Shortstop, already secured, whose name will be announced next week. Third base, Sargent.

Outfielders, Hale, Cox, Wolff and two others already secured whose names will be announced soon.

It can be seen that the team is practically made up with the exception of two pitchers and one catcher. Kenworthy is placed at second base instead of Krug, for the reason that he is slated to manage the club. Although the property of Seattle at present, some sort of an arrangement will be made which will bring him to Portland and Krug will go elsewhere.

Of the pitchers, Middleton, Sutherland and Crumpler are all of class A caliber. Sam Rom didn't pitch bad ball last year and Coleman is a promising youngster in any of Plummer and Ellison. Put two more good twirlers in that line-up and the staff is bound to be strong. The two others who are coming are better, according to their records, than any of this trio.

It can be seen that President Klepper has been extremely active since taking over the local franchise and seems to have gotten results.

AMERICAN WIN.
The Americans defeated Santa Rita in a rapid basketball game played at Recreation Center last night, 37 to 14. Bob Renny and Hudd Rids starred for the winners, while Alamo featured for the Santa Rita five.
